To whom it may concern:

In the capacity of English teacher of Ms. Huang, having instructed her in the courses during the academic year of 2014~2018, I am pleased to have this opportunity to introduce her to you. I have known Ms. Huang since 2014, when she was a fresh student in the class, as I was the instructor of their teacher.

Ms. Huang' s enthusiasm and diligence in learning helped her become one of the most outstanding students, making a strong and positive impression upon me. her passionate participation in discussion during class sometimes enlightened the whole group. She actively take part in the courses, forwardly deliberating relevant content, topics about how to optimize the teaching environment, what kind of new ideas or new ways we can use in practice, etc. After the discussion there' s always some creative ideas come to her thought and inspire us. Simultaneously, she was also one of the few students to successfully pass the TEM-4 test and Teaching-method Courses, which I believe is the fruit of her efforts. After having learned a course or a point of knowledge she knows how to internalize those materials, mastering it finally take it into practice of various occasions with spontaneous caution to match problems of reality. Ms.Huang is one of the top student among all my followers and Almost all of her scores of her homework and tests are A.

What' s more, her creativity and capacity in teaching have also convinced me that she improved herself a lot during her junior year before she returned to my class. She has demonstrated explicitly her potential as a teaching method researcher and practitioner to me. She has obtained much teaching and managing experience from her teaching jobs that she worked as a Chinese and English teacher in schools and educational agencies. She has a sense of Integrity, passion for success, and strong responsibility for work. Through personal communication between us, she has also expressed her desire to attend a teaching program and do teaching method research work of higher quality in the academic field that she is interested in. I believe a talented and hardworking young woman like her could swiftly achieve the best way to develop her teaching skills and bring you remarkable fruits.

Ms. Huang is ready to move on to a new teaching job with much more enthusiasm and speciality. Her academic performance and outstanding personal character have won her my highest recommendation, and I hope you can give her application strong consideration.

Your faithfully,
